THE ANCESTRY
AND FAMILY CONNECTIONS
OF
DAVID BYERS BARBER.

1655. ÷ 1879.

CONTINUED AND PRINTED BY HIMSELF.

SAY CITY, MICH.

1879.

TO THE READER.

These pages were prepared for the purpose of preserving a record, easy for reference, of some of the descendants of Thomas Barber and Capt. John Stanley, who, during nearly two hundred and fifty years, number ten generations.

The aim has been only to trace the lineal descent and record the names and location of the more nearly related branches of the families, who are now spread across the continent.

The preparation has been a work of gratification to the compiler, and he hopes the perusal will prove not without interest to those under whose notice it may fall.

Theis underwritten names are to be transported to New England imbarqued in y^e Christian de Lo:^{de} Joh^{de} White Mr bound thither, the men have taken y^e oath Allegiance & Supremacie.

"The ancient Jewish year which opened with the 25th of March, continued long to have a legal position in Christian countries. In England it was not until 1752 that the 1st of Jan. became the initial day of the legal, as it had long been of the popular year."

The Christian, therefore, sailed in March 1635, instead of March 1634, as the London Custom House record states.
